DETAILED ACTION

Status of Claims

1. Claims 4, 5, 7, 8, and 11-19 are pending.

2. Claims 4, 5, 7, 8, and 11-19 are rejected.

Information Disclosure Statement

3. The information disclosure statement of October 26, 2006 has been reviewed and considered.

Allowable Subject Matter

4. Claims 4, 5, 7, 8, and 11-19 are allowed over Cheng, J. T. et al.

Obviousness-type Double Patenting

5. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970);and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

6. The provisional rejection of claims 4, 5, 7, 8, and 11-19 under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 6-9 and 11-31 of copending Application No. 09/944,079 is maintained and repeated. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because both the instant invention and the copending Application No. 09/944,079 teach of treating hypertension with a compound that is a chlorogenic acid, ester or salt thereof. Moreover, it is well within the level of the skilled artisan to determine therapeutic dosages, modes and methods of administration in order to optimize the efficacy of a pharmaceutical agent. In addition, the skilled artisan would have been motivated to determine and select pharmaceutically acceptable acyl, ester, and amide moieties and derivatives with the known chlorogenic compounds. In addition, both applicant and the copending Application No. 09/944,079 recite the word "comprising", which is open-claim language. It is held that "the word 'comprising' incorporates additional steps of procedures and does not exclude materials or processes not recited in the claim". Gould v. Mossinghoff, Comr. Pats., (DCCD 1982) 215 USPQ 310.

7. This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection because the conflicting claims have not in fact been patented.

8. The provisional rejection of claims 4, 5, 7, 8, and 11-19 under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 7-19 and 23-26 of copending Application No. 10/192,075 is maintained and repeated. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because both the instant invention and the copending Application No. 10/192,075 teach of treating hypertension with a compound that is a chlorogenic acid, ester or salt thereof. Moreover, it is well within the level of the skilled artisan to determine therapeutic dosages, modes and methods of administration in order to optimize the efficacy of a pharmaceutical agent. In addition, the skilled artisan would have been motivated to determine and select pharmaceutically acceptable acyl, ester, and amide moieties and derivatives with the known chlorogenic compounds. In addition, both applicant and the copending Application No. 10/192,075 recite the word "comprising", which is open-claim language. It is held that "the word 'comprising' incorporates additional steps of procedures and does not exclude materials or processes not recited in the claim". Gould v. Mossinghoff, Comr. Pats., (DCCD 1982) 215 USPQ 310.

9. This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection because the conflicting claims have not in fact been patented.

10. The provisional rejection of claims 4, 5, 7, 8, and 11-19 under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1 and 6 of copending Application No. 10/626,708 is maintained and repeated. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because both the instant invention and the copending Application No. 10/626,708 teach of treating hypertension with a compound that is a chlorogenic acid, ester or salt thereof. Moreover, it is well within the level of the skilled artisan to determine therapeutic dosages, modes and methods of administration in order to optimize the efficacy of a pharmaceutical agent. In addition, the skilled artisan would have been motivated to determine and select pharmaceutically acceptable acyl, ester, and amide moieties and derivatives with the known chlorogenic compounds. In addition, both applicant and the copending Application No. 10/626,708 recite the word "comprising", which is open-claim language. It is held that "the word 'comprising' incorporates additional steps of procedures and does not exclude materials or processes not recited in the claim". Gould v. Mossinghoff, Comr. Pats., (DCCD 1982) 215 USPQ 310.

11. This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection because the conflicting claims have not in fact been patented.

12. The rejection of claims 4, 5, 7, 8, and 11-19 under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 5-17 of U.S. Patent No. 6,458,392 is maintained and repeated. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because both the instant invention and U.S. Patent No. 6,458,392 teach of treating hypertension with a compound that is a chlorogenic acid, ester or salt thereof. Moreover, it is well within the level of the skilled artisan to determine therapeutic dosages, modes and methods of administration in order to optimize the efficacy of a pharmaceutical agent. In addition, the skilled artisan would have been motivated to determine and select pharmaceutically acceptable acyl, ester, and amide moieties and derivatives with the known chlorogenic compounds. In addition, both applicant and U.S. Patent No. 6,458,392 recite the word "comprising", which is open-claim language. It is held that "the word 'comprising' incorporates additional steps of procedures and does not exclude materials or processes not recited in the claim". Gould v. Mossinghoff, Comr. Pats., (DCCD 1982) 215 USPQ 310.
